

Council on Aging Transit Center St. Johns County, FL

Project Description:

Matthews Design Group, Inc. (MDG) completed engineering and design for this three-acre transit facility in eastern St. Johns County. Of particular importance for this design was the need to retain a large number of old growth oak trees as well as situate the facility so that it would blend well with adjacent residential areas. MDG engineered a complete site plan for this facility, including stormwater management and utilities infrastructure, along with sidewalk and roadway modification to accommodate the widening of Old Moultrie Road which accesses this site. Site design included sidewalks connecting the building, parking areas, and the frontage road.
